HEALTHTEC SOFTWARE HONORED WITH THE “KEEPING AMERICA STRONG” AWARD

(San Antonio, TX) – HealthTec Software, Inc., a leading provider of medical and dental practice management software, has received the “Keeping America Strong” award, presented by Rear Admiral Kevin F. Delaney (ret.) as part of the Heartbeat of America Television Series hosted by William Shatner.

Heartbeat of America, a Television Show focused on Corporate America and hosted by William Shatner started the “Keeping America Strong” award after the events of September 11, 2001 to honor small to medium companies that they believe to be the “backbone of our Country”. Their research department locates and interviews companies that fit their entrepreneurial profile of “Keeping America Strong”. After an extensive interview process, the show selects companies for the award that they believe fit their profile. They are very cautious in their selection, particularly due to the reputations of the nationally recognizable talent the show uses for their News Anchor team such as William Shatner, Dana Adams, Burt Tenzer, Doug Llewelyn, Bella Shaw and others.

HealthTec company president, Vance Nelson, states “We are honored to receive this award and more importantly, honored to be able to provide jobs, a great work environment and a valuable service to the healthcare community”.

The actual TV show is created in a thirty-minute format and will be aired in various markets in November of this year. VHS videos as well as CD-Rom versions of the show are available in various lengths from HealthTec. A shortened production of the show can also be viewed from the company’s website.
